Nationwide In-Home Coaching, Treatment & Recovery

Koplin Consulting is passionate about providing mental health and coaching services which allow individuals life-changing help in real life and in real-time. By working alongside our clients in their daily lives, surrounded by the people they normally interact with, new habits and behaviors are formed based on real-time feedback from their coach.

This real-time approach is much different than what normally occurs inside a treatment center or office where everything is merely discussed and not experienced. Relapses usually happen when someone is alone and struggling to implement what they've learned while fighting against years of bad habits. The incredibly high relapse rate for addictions and eating disorders is what led to our unique approach and why our company came to be.
